Positive characteristics or strengths of the course/instructor

She was enthusiastic and wanted her students to learn how to effectively speak in front of people.

Best teacher who ever lived.

She was nice.

Ms. Noor always engages her students and she makes sure that all her students are confident and ready for anything. Not having the dress for speeches made everyone comfortable.

Criticisms concerning the course/instructor

There were some busy work assignments, for example on the rough draft workshop day instead of just having time to write our speech we had to fill out a form. That was kind of annoying and I think not a lot of the students took that seriously.

None.

I am pleased overall with the content and enthusiasm of this professor. She should continue to achieve the goals she has set out to

Additional comments and suggestions

None.

Professor Aswad is amazing. She is so kind and values teaching students. She is the essence of what this university needs. I would ensure students master a well needed skill in life. I have no complaints.

like to recognize her as professor of the year!

I thought Professor Aswad was very enthusiastic about teaching the material. Her positive energy helped to ease the nerves I felt about having to do speeches. The Round Robins were helpful as well as the practice speeches but I enjoyed the Round Robins more.

Whenever we had to present speeches Professor Aswad as well as another student would keep time. I found that I according to the student, I would be under time or just at time, while Professor Aswad had that I went over the grace period time but I never received a bell to stop me. If there could be better communication with that, it would be beneficial. Especially if you take off points for time limit.

Overall Professor Aswad made the class more bearable and I am happy to have been able to be a part of her first class.

Mrs. Aswad was one of my favorite teachers this semester. She was always on time for class, always prepared, and made sure that we had fun in the class, while making sure we understood the material. She gives great feedback on speeches and makes sure to encourage us to do our best when speaking. She did awesome speech warm ups, and made sure lectures were not extremely boring. The entire class, in my opinion, was engaged all semester. She made sure we were in an encouraging environment and established that she wanted us to respect each other at the beginning of the semester. She made sure to tell us if we had any questions about any of the material; we could contact her anytime.

Professor Noor is very knowledgeable. She made the course a lot easier and more fun. This class is a dreaded class for everyone but Professor Noor was able to make this class manageable and not overbearing.

she was my favorite professor this semester.

Made students feel comfortable gave great feedback on speeches always accessible and helped with providing resources

She is honestly the BEST teacher I have had not only at the UofM but throughout all of my schooling. I felt comfortable during my speeches (something that usually gives me anxiety), she is just truly the best and I'm so glad I took her section.

The course was very well structured, and the support for when we wrote the speeches was excellent.

Absolutely none

you did great for your first class

Honestly none.

You're doing amazing for being a first timer!

She is awesome and I'm glad Oral Comm is over because I hate giving speeches, but I will miss her.
